China Could Fall into a Great Depression

By Dr. Steve Sjuggerud

Is it possible? Could China be on the brink of a Great Depression?

Most experts would say, "No way." They would point to China's trillions of U.S. dollars in reserves as their Exhibit A and say, "Case closed."

Countries use reserves to back their liabilities... like their currencies. Think of it like having a huge balance in your savings account. If you've got all that cash, you're not likely going under, right?

Buy Gold Once – Get Royalties for Life

Most Americans have no clue that in Nevada there's a secret residents have been using for years to help them grow rich, and stay rich, well into retirement.

In short, it's an opportunity that enables ordinary Americans to collect lucrative financial "royalties" – between $250 and $950 – several times a year. The Washington Post reports, "No [opportunity of its kind] in the United States promises more future riches..."

But one expert recently made an interesting case for a potential Great Depression in China, even with its trillions of dollars of reserves...

"Twice before in history, a country has, under similar circumstances, run up foreign reserves of the same magnitude," says Michael Pettis, a former Wall Streeter and Columbia professor who now teaches finance in China. "Both cases turned out badly for long investors, and brilliantly for anyone dumb enough to have [bet against the markets]."

The two cases where countries rang up reserves of a similar magnitude to China are the U.S. in the 1920s and Japan in the 1980s.

Pettis says, in both cases, the high reserves "were symptoms of terrible underlying imbalances" in those countries. So those reserves were ultimately "useless" in protecting those countries from a bust.

The U.S. and Japan stories are similar. The U.S. in the 1920s and Japan in the 1980s had "sharply undervalued currencies, rapid urbanization, and rapid growth in worker productivity," according to Pettis.

The long-ailing U.S. housing market is facing a new headwind – a jump in the cost of lumber

Lumber prices have climbed 32% on the futures market this year, a sudden and unexpected surge that could raise construction costs or force builders to swallow an added expense.

"That's the last thing we need right now," Stephen Melman, director of economic services at the National Association of Home Builders, said of the recent price hike.

Lumber's price rise contrasts with a decline in most other commodities, such as fossil fuels and industrial metals. Those are dragging due to fears of weaker demand amid a fragile recovery from the financial crisis.

But lumber prices shot up because of a shortage of supply. When the housing market cratered, mills in the U.S. and Canada slashed production; output plummeted about 45% between 2005 and 2009, according to Random Lengths, an industry data provider.

Obscure Nevada-based Opportunity Allows You to Own a stake in the World's Safest Asset... and to Potentially Make 1,200% Over the Next 5 Years

"No [opportunity of its kind] in the United States promises more future riches..."~The Washington Post

Dear Friend,

You probably know that Nevada is a state famous for its "excessive" laws...

For example, there's legalized gambling... easy marriage laws... and prostitution.

> Heck, there's even an obscure law that says it's legal to hang someone for shooting your dog on your property.

But most Americans have no clue that in Nevada – just miles from the Las Vegas Strip – hides a secret, residents have been using for years to help them grow rich, and stay rich, well into retirement.

In short, it's an opportunity that enables ordinary Americans to collect lucrative gold "royalties" – between $250 and $950 – several times a year.

And these small "royalties" are just the tip of the iceberg...

The real gains could come in the form of a big lump sum when you cash out, within 2-4 years.

Don't worry, you don't have to live in or even visit Nevada to start collecting...

Take 56-year-old Alan Wilkinson from Burlington, NC for example.

So far, Alan has received 7 royalty payments from Nevada's unique gold investment. Then, when he decided he wanted a large lump sum payment, he cashed out for $12,899.46.

Or how about 41-year-old Laura Naselli of Provo, UT who's also received 7 royalty payments since trying Nevada's gold investment. She recently cashed out for a payday of $15,093.25.

I assure you, no other state in the U.S. offers anything like this...

It has nothing to do with gambling or casinos either... yet it's probably the easiest way to potentially make a fortune over the next few years, and beyond.

> As you can imagine, folks in Nevada aren't too eager to share their secret. In fact, I found very little information on this phenomenon outside of Nevada.
> I did manage to dig up a survey from The Washington Post, which reports, "No [opportunity of its kind] in the United States promises more future riches..."

Another independent report, published by Forbes, calls this opportunity, "Very profitable."

Because there's so little public information, I decided to go to Nevada myself and investigate the situation further. I scoured the state – by jeep... helicopter... and airplane – to meet with top officials, interview royalty participants, and pour through government records and documents...

There, I got the full details on this rarely publicized opportunity.

In this letter, I explain all the findings of my trip, plus the secret way to begin collecting "royalties" yourself... how much you can expect to collect... how often you'll collect... and when you'll get paid...

Here's what I found...

L.A. Couple Finds Retirement Windfall in Nevada Desert

My investigation of "Nevada Royalties" began in Northeastern Nevada...

To a beautiful corner of the State where you can see snowcapped peaks soaring high above the sagebrush flats...

Here, in a small town called Elko, I found two "Nevada Royalty" participants — Steve and Lila Tollafson. Let me briefly share their story because it could have an immediate impact on your personal wealth...

Years ago Steve and Lila Tollafson left the hustle and bustle of downtown Los Angeles to begin a ranching business in the quiet Nevada countryside.

Using money Steve saved up at his defense contractor job, the couple purchased the T Lazy S Ranch just outside of Elko – a calm assortment of rolling hay fields, wild horses, and breathtaking views of the nearby Tuscarora Mountains.

The Tollafsons envisioned this as the perfect way to live out their retirement

"Nevada Royalty" Participants

Every day more Americans are learning how to take advantage of this royalty opportunity. Here are just a few recipients I learned about on my trip:

Name and Age	Lump Sum

But nothing could prepare them for what happened next...

There in the middle of the desert, the Tollafsons learned about a new way to retire rich.

In short, they discovered a way to make a huge amount of money.

Mary Odenkirk, 59	$10,307
Stewart Holdsclaw, 44	$11,222
Boris Jenkowski , 49	$16,723
Marc Stefano, 68	$6,090
Ted Grabowski, 82	$10,121
Theodore Gore, 39	$24,034

- They collected so much, in fact, that they were able to purchase Llangollen Farm, a 1,100-acre $7 million equestrian estate in Virginia. Located at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains, the estate boasted a beautifully restored 19-room pillared mansion, a variety of barns, guesthouses, seven ponds, a training track, an orchard, and formal gardens.

- They later purchased a nearby 550-acre estate called "Huntlands." Surrounded by an ivy-covered wall with a gated entry, the 10-bedroom manor held Waterford crystal finials on curved staircases and a butler's pantry complete with a service elevator.

How is this possible, you're probably wondering, for an ordinary couple like the Tollafsons to collect so much money, thanks to an opportunity unique to a state that's known mostly for gambling and easy marriage laws?

Let me show you...

The "Nevada Royalty" Secret – REVEALED

There's a unique situation in Nevada that allows ordinary investors to own royalty interests in the state's biggest and most productive mining operations.

Keep in mind: This has nothing to do with investing in ordinary gold mining companies. It's much safer, as I'll show you... and a heck of a lot more profitable.

You see, the practice of allowing ordinary investors to own royalty stakes in lucrative mines dates back more than 150 years in Nevada. Back then, individual investors could buy royalty stakes in gold and silver-filled land. They received royalties as the precious metals were produced. It was probably the safest and easiest way in America to get rich at the time...

Ordinary people made fortunes:

- Sanford Bowers (Mule skinner from Missouri who earned $100,000/month in mining royalties)

- James Flood (Saloon owner who made $500,000/month thanks to Nevada's gold riches)

- Adolf Sutro (An inventor from California who retired with more than $859,000 thanks to his stake in Nevada's silver mines)

Even America's richest families used this secret to help grow and protect their wealth, including...

- The Ralston Family (Founders of the Bank of California)
- Alvinza Hayward (California's first millionaire)
- The Hearst Family (Heirs to the famous newspaper empire)

In fact, most people don't know that Abraham Lincoln even financed the Civil War, in large part, with the riches from Nevada's gold and silver mines!

But then things changed.

As big mining companies took over the industry, the practice of extending royalties to ordinary citizens ended. For most of the last 50 years, the only practical way to make money on lucrative mines has been to buy mining company stocks. These are the companies that explore for, or produce, gold, silver, or other precious metals.

But the good news for investors like you and me is that all changed in 1990, when Stanley Dempsey – a clever geologist and lawyer from Nevada – uncovered a unique opportunity that makes it possible for Americans like you and me to again collect huge mining royalties, without taking big risks associated with ordinary mining stocks.

Dempsey made a fortune. In fact, government records show he pocketed more than $988,000 over the span of just a few years once he learned this secret. Get this... he even paid for college and law school with the profits he made.

What most people don't know is that Dempsey personally found a way to get these shares listed and publicly traded on the New York Stock Exchange. So you can buy and sell them – just like any regular stock.

Now can you see why I call this stock market secret "Nevada Royalties?"

You might be wondering why would you want to own mining royalty interests on the stock market rather than traditional gold and silver mining stocks?

There are two compelling reasons.

The first is that "Nevada Royalties" allow you the possibility of making a lot more money than you can with ordinary gold stocks...

Let me show you an example of what I mean...

The Goldstrike Mine:
A Secret Way to Turn $100 into $156,000

The Goldstrike gold mine, located in central Nevada, is probably one of the biggest and most important gold mines of the past 30 years.

It covers more than 9,400 acres of land and produces a whopping $3 million worth of gold each day of operation. It supplies gold to foreign governments, central banks, investment banks, and Fortune 500 companies all across the globe.

But here's the thing.

Most people think the only way to invest in the Goldstrike mine is to buy stock in the company that owns and operates it, called Barrick Gold Corp.

If you invested $100 in Barrick when the Goldstrike began full production in the early 1990s, you'd have done very well. Your original investment would be worth about $514.00 today. That's a 414% return on your money!

Sounds pretty good, right?

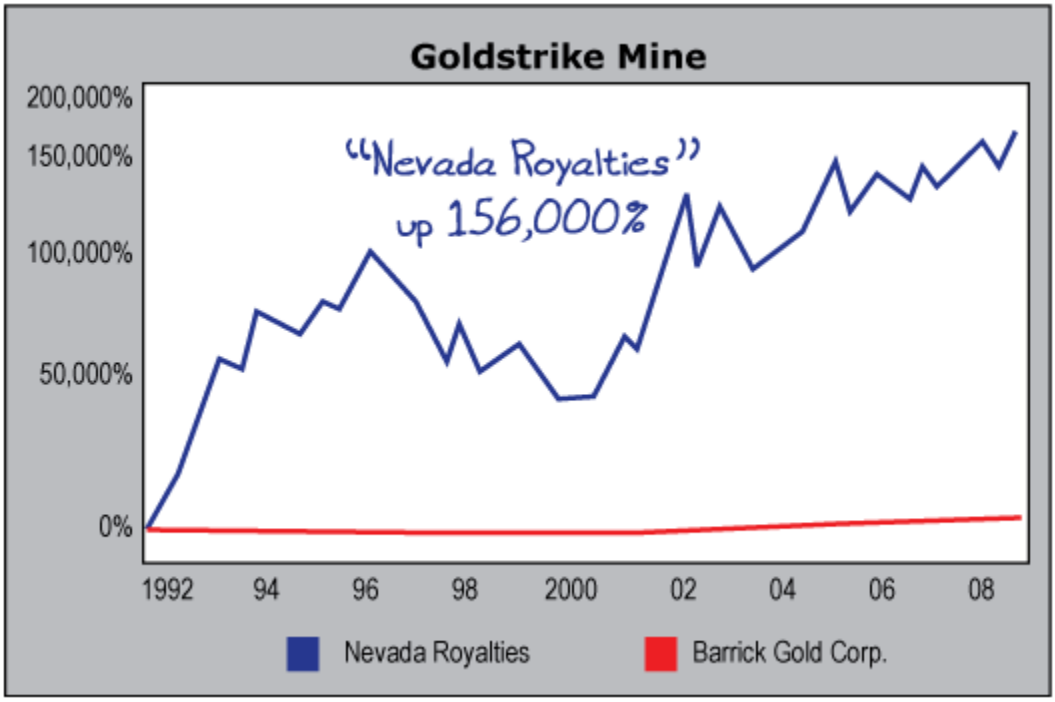
But the truth is, those results are nothing compared to the returns made by investors who took advantage of the mine's "Nevada Royalties."

What kinds of returns am I talking about?

Well, a $100 investment in Goldstrike's "Nevada Royalties" would be worth a staggering $156,000 today. That's more than 300-times better than owning the gold stock!

Remarkable, isn't it?

Instead of collecting a 414% return as most gold stock shareholders did, those who took advantage of the "Nevada Royalties" could have collected 156,000% returns over the same period.



And by simply doubling your initial investment to $200... you could have pocketed an incredible $312,000 in "Nevada Royalties."

It gets better...

- A simple $500 stake would've made you $780,000...
- A $1,000 stake would've made you $1,560,000...
- And a $5,000 stake would've made you a whopping $7,800,000...

Now can you see why folks in Nevada aren't too eager to share their secret?

The best part is, Goldstrike still has an estimated mine life of 14 years. That means you can collect royalties on this property until 2024! I strongly recommend you do (I'll show you how to buy these shares in just a moment).

The point I'm trying to make is this: Those who buy ordinary gold stocks do OK.

But savvy investors who have taken advantage of "Nevada Royalties" have made a fortune, and can a lot of money for many years to come.

Even better... investors who take advantage of "Nevada Royalties" take on LESS RISK.

Let me show you what I'm talking about...

All the Gains of Gold Stocks – Without the Risk

In short, owning "Nevada Royalties" is a lot safer than owning ordinary gold stocks.

You see, big gold companies – companies that explore and produce gold – take on all kinds of risk. They spend tremendous amounts of money identifying a target gold deposit... exploring it... developing it... and building the infrastructure to mine it.

For example, one of the most popular mining trucks today costs a whopping $2.7 MILLION. Each tire costs $30,000... and the annual fuel costs run more than $1 million per truck!

Plus, I haven't even mentioned the costs of labor... insurance... permits... storage... and the hundreds of other pieces of super-expensive equipment you need to operate a mine.

The point is, the entire process for building a gold mine can take ten years or more and cost hundreds of millions, if not, billions of dollars.

This is simply not the case with "Nevada Royalties."

You see, with "Nevada Royalties" there's no exploring, developing, or building of gold mines to fund. You're simply buying rights to an existing mine (on the stock market) and collecting the royalties.

It's as simple as that.

> If you invest, you'll receive a small royalty check every 3 months. Then when your royalties accumulate to your desired amount, you can cash in your royalty shares for a big lump-sum payout.

This is why owning the royalties is a lot more profitable than owning the mining stock.

Let me show you what I mean...

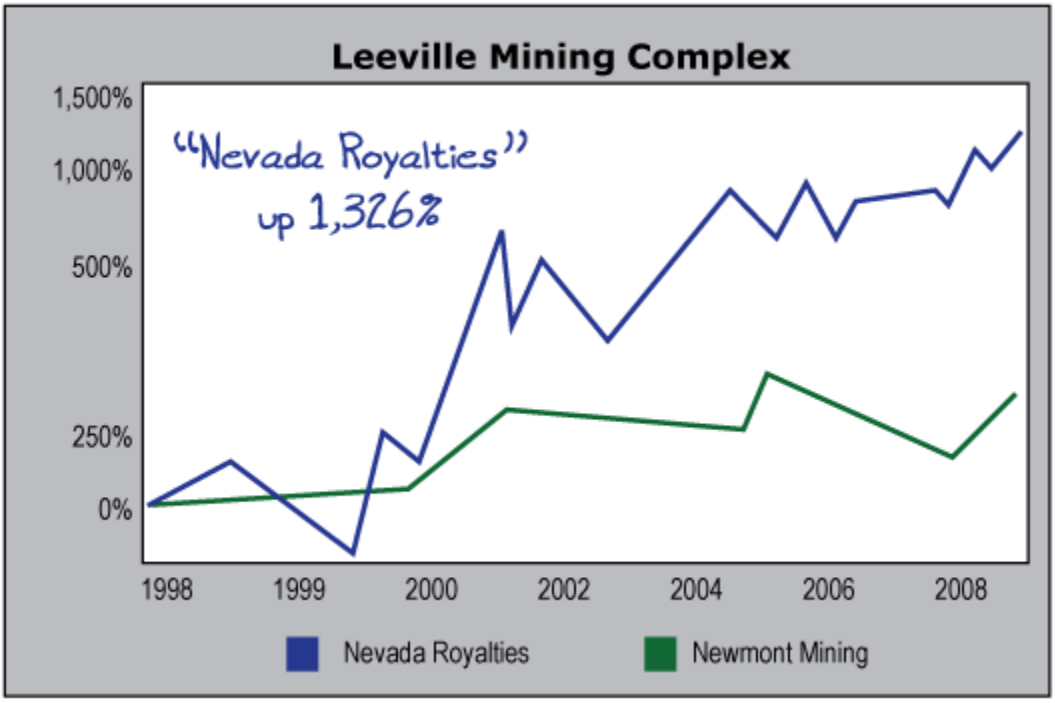
You've probably heard of Newmont Mining. It's one of the largest gold companies in the world. They've spent more than $10 BILLION over the past decade exploring for and producing new gold projects.

As a result, shares of Newmont have risen about 250% during that time.

Sounds pretty good, right?

But let's say instead of buying shares in Newmont, you simply bought "Royalty" shares in Newmont's Leeville Gold Mining Complex (the company's flagship property).

Because you're simply collecting the mining royalties, you'd have made a lot more money than investing directly in the gold stock. Today, your "Royalty" shares would have grown by a whopping 1,326%.



That's about 1,050% more profitable than owning the gold stock! Not to mention the fact that you would've received an additional 37 small royalty checks over the course of that time.

Why would you want to own ordinary gold stocks when you can own royalty interests and get bigger gains... smaller risks?

The way I see it, you can take your chances with ordinary gold companies and hope they find gold and produce it profitably... or you can simply get paid for owning the royalty interests and make a fortune.

I personally believe "Nevada Royalties" are the perfect investment...

Both in terms of risk – and reward...

If you're as excited about this opportunity as I am, let me show you how to take advantage of the situation immediately...

How to Get Started Today...

My name is Matt Badiali. And as I mentioned earlier, I'm a geologist.

I have a Masters of Science (M.Sc.) in geology and more than 15 years of industry and research experience.

You see, for years I wanted to take my expertise in resource companies and help people understand the business... and make some good money at the same time. So, a few years ago I joined a Florida-based investment team, led by a PhD in finance and former hedge fund manager, and a former CitiGroup bond trader.

I learned their trade. And they learned a bit of mine.

And – for the past four years – I've leveraged my knowledge of the industry to help tens of thousands of everyday American investors make money by investing in precious metals and energy-related plays.

Once a month, I report my findings for readers of my monthly financial newsletter called the S&A Resource Report.

We call it the Resource Report because I focus on all natural resources including silver, uranium, copper, natural gas, oil, and gold, just to name a few.

For the past 12 months I've been looking very closely at what we call "Nevada Royalties."

If you're interested in getting the full details, I would like to send you, absolutely free, my full Research Report called Nevada Royalties: How to Claim Your Share of the World's Most Profitable Gold Mines. .

This Research Report details everything you need to know to take advantage of this opportunity, including:

- Why right now is a great time to get into "Nevada Royalties"...
- The top royalty paying mines in Nevada...
- How to participate by purchasing shares, which are listed right on the New York Stock Exchange...
- How and when you'll receive your royalty checks...
- How much you can expect to collect...
- And so much more...

For example, this report details one of my favorite royalty mines right now – a mine located in an area geologists call, "a seemingly bottomless pit of gold." This mine has paid out more than $102 MILLION in royalties since 2001. Don't worry... I expect they'll pay out another $100 MILLION over the next few years. It's a great time to get in on this windfall.

I'll also tell you about my favorite silver royalty mines. One of them is a world-class deposit producing an average of 30 million ounces of silver a year, and is estimated to pay royalties for the next 22 years!

I'll show you how to buy shares in each of these mining operations, so you can get your share of these royalties (keep in mind, the royalties "stack up" so you can cash in big when you're finished holding shares). It's all there in my Special Report, Nevada Royalties: How to Claim Your Share of the World's Most Profitable Gold Mines.

To claim your FREE copy the only thing I ask in return is that you take a no-risk trial subscription to my monthly investment advisory, the S&A Resource Report.

Before you decide, however, I'd like to share with you another little-known way to make money from America's vast natural resources...

A U.S. Gov't "loophole" in the gold business

In recent months, I have been investigating an extraordinary situation...

It's another huge opportunity in the gold markets, which I recommend you take advantage of immediately...

In short: There's a U.S. government-created program that allows you to take ownership of some of the most valuable gold properties on Earth... for just a fraction of their true worth on the open markets.

What this translates to for you is the opportunity to make many, many times your original investment with very little risk.

The Washington Post calls it "One of the greatest boondoggles of all time."

And The LA Times says, "It's a tool [you] can use to make incredible amounts of money."

Already, thousands of regular Americans have used this government program to make an absolute fortune...

- On February 24th, government records indicate that Rising Sun, MD native Chet Walker used this opportunity to make $12,900 in a single day.
- One group of investors I know have made 2,015% thanks to this opportunity, over the past few decades. Another group has made about 1,013% over roughly the same period.

What's great about this U.S. government-created opportunity is that you can cash in on this gold opportunity directly through a unique type of investment on the U.S. stock market.

I believe you will be very happy with this investment over the next few years. I don't want to say much more about it here, because it is an extraordinary situation I'd prefer to reveal only to my subscribers.

But I explain everything you need to know in my new Research Report called: The Federal Gold "Loophole" of a Lifetime.

Again, you'll get all of the details as soon as you take a trial subscription to my monthly Resource Report advisory letter.

Is the Resource Report right for you?

I don't know. But let me tell you a little bit about it so you can decide for yourself...

Getting In Early

When you try The S&A Resource Report, you'll have access to the collective knowledge of my team and all my contacts in the field.

Take a look at just a few of the big stories my network has identified – allowing our readers to get in before the masses...

My top "wildcatter" connection gets my attention...

In summer 2003, one of my researchers went deep-sea fishing off the coast of Panama, with 2 of our top oil contacts. The one guy's been in the oil business for 30 years and owns dozens of wells. The other guy is, as the Times of London described him, "a geologist and self-made man... the real deal: one of the last independent oil prospectors in northwest Texas – a genuine wildcatter."

These guys tipped my researcher off to a small exploration company called Double Eagle Petroleum (DBLE) that they suspected had stumbled onto a very large natural gas field in Wyoming. Months later – after we recommended DBLE – it turned out that our experts were right. The company discovered a ton of natural gas in the eastern Washakie Basin in Wyoming. Shares soared as high as 230% afterwards.

119% gains on 2 huge copper finds

In 2006, I found a little–known copper company with a mine that had the longest remaining mine life of any major open–pit copper mine in the world. But what made this opportunity so interesting was that this company recently found another world–class copper deposit, almost as big! The amazing this was, almost no one outside the mining community had even heard of this company before. Over the next 14 months, our readers had the chance to make 119% gains with this little–known stock.

In fact, over the past few years, my team and I have helped readers get in on many great opportunities in the energy and mining fields, which are seldom covered by mainstream news sources.

For example, my readers have had the chance to see gains as high as...

93% on a small gold company called Cumberland Resources
166% on a Brazilian oil producer called Petrobras
100% on a small oil and gas explorer called Kodiak Oil & Gas
239% on unique gold company called Seabridge Gold
111% on a small oil producer called Occidental Petroleum
117% on a small deepwater drilling firm called Stone Energy
98% on a steel alloy technology for deep-sea drilling (Allegheny Technologies)

I don't know of another Research Service in the country that has a track record as good as ours today.

This is probably why The S&A Resource Report research also has many mining and energy industry professionals who follow our work:

30-year Amoco Veteran:
"Matt Badiali's Report my favorite newsletter... and I would recommend it to anyone.
- Mike Hourihan, retired from BP/Amoco after 30-year career

Director Of NYSE Company
"Your letter, in many instances, has confirmed good ideas under consideration and at other times introduced new ideas, which have proven to be very profitable! I look forward to your report each month and find it to be extremely valuable. Keep up the good work!"
- Gerald Wilson, director of a NYSE listed E&P company.

9-Year Energy Industry Veteran
"I know all the big names in energy and energy services... but The S&A Resource Report has introduced me to faster growing, small energy service companies that are performing extremely well. I am very satisfied with the performance of these investments overall."
- Harold Dickens., PhD., 9-years in global energy services

Of course, I can't say for sure if The S&A Resource Report is right for you. But to help you decide, here's what I propose...

Try The S&A Resource Report for the next 4 months and make a decision whenever you are ready.

Here's what I mean...

Before I give you the details on how to get started, however, I'd like to tell you about one more exciting opportunity you can take advantage of right now...

Chinese Government Creates Gold Investment

In recent months, I came across an unusual way to make money...

It's a huge and rare opportunity taking place in China right now, which I recommend you take advantage of immediately...

And I can assure you that almost no one outside of China has heard of this development yet...

In short: the Chinese government has created a new type of gold investment that could dwarf the returns of bullion, ordinary gold stocks, or any other type of gold investment you've heard of before.

What this translates to, for you is the opportunity to make many, many times your original investment with very little risk.

More big winners in the Resource sector

100% in 10 months...
Recently, I learned about a company that had secured the largest un-mined gold deposit in the world. When I found this, no one was talking about it yet. Since my recommendation, we are already up 100% in 10 months... with A LOT more to come.

50% in 12 months...
In 2006, I uncovered a tiny company that owned the largest collection of

You see, this is not the first time Beijing leaders have secretly created such an opportunity:

> In the late 1990s, the Chinese government created two similar investments. One (to help the local insurance industry) went up more than 530% in just a few years... the other (to aid the energy sector) has gone up about 1,084% over a similar period.

But this is the first time Chinese officials have intervened in this way in the gold markets – and I expect the result will be a windfall for savvy investors over the next few years.

in-the-ground silver resources on earth... an amazing 171 million ounces... plus an additional BILLION ounces it was working to confirm. The amazing this was, almost no one outside the mining community had even heard of this company, which gave my readers the chance to safely make 50% over the next 12 months.

55% practically overnight...
Just a few months ago, I found a small company (Addax Petroleum) with an inside track on getting big oil contracts in Iraq. We made about 55% practically overnight when a big oil company offered to buy the firm out.

I believe you will be very happy with this investment over the next few years. I don't want to say much more about it here, because it is an extraordinary situation I'd prefer to reveal only to my subscribers.
